

WHAT IS NKM4YOU?

NKM4YOU is a network of independent consultants, established in 2015 & lead by Pasztory Consulting e.U. We are nuclear environmentalists who believe that nuclear energy has a relevant role in the energy mix of most countries.

Our subject matter experts came from countries including Canada, the Czech Republic, Hungary, Italy, Japan, Romania, Russia, Slovakia, Spain, the UK, and the USA. As a result of the service request of our customers, the NKM4YOU network is continuously expanding to include new competencies.

NKM4YOU answers the needs of (nuclear) organizations in the development of knowledge management systems/activities, human resource development, and workforce planning issues. We are also the right partner for your organization if you are experiencing difficulties fulfilling the new requirements of the ISO 9001:2015 for Managing Organizational Knowledge.

The NKM4YOU Team mission is to support organizations in the nuclear industry and other industries through the development of their KM competencies. We help you to achieve 3xright: the right knowledge at the right time in the right place!

Our Competency Areas

- Configuration management
- Damaged fuel and nuclear waste management
- E-learning product development
- Emergency preparedness and severe accident handling
- Human resource management
- IAEA safety standards
- Information management/Content management
- IT solutions/IT security
- Knowledge loss risk assessment
- Knowledge management implementation/integration into management systems
- Leadership/Policy/Strategy formulation
- Management systems integration/Process improvement/Business process reengineering/improvement
- Nuclear regulations
- Organization competency mapping
- Plant equipment ageing management
- Plant information models
- Plant organization and administration
- Plant process management
- Quality management – ISO 9001:2015 knowledge management requirements
- Risk management
- Safety culture/Organizational culture
- Semantic search
- Stakeholder management
- Value engineering
- Virtual reality product development
- Workforce planning

Our Customers

Our customers are nuclear and non-nuclear organizations, radiation safety organizations, nuclear application organizations, and all others that need help in the development of their Knowledge Management systems or in managing their organizational knowledge.

NEXT INTELLIGENCE

eMail: info@next-intelligence.net

website: http://next-intelligence.net/about_j.html

WHAT IS NKM4YOU?

Our Services

Workshops on (N)KM topics

Based on our competencies, we organize workshops on knowledge management to introduce the methods, tools and practices used in the implementation of KM and its integration into organizational day-to-day activities. Workshop sizes range from 5 to 30 participants made up of subject matter experts from all areas of the organization providing support to KM (senior/middle level managers, KM (future) experts, and subject matter experts from QA, HR, IT, OP, MA, and other relevant areas.

Training Courses

NKM4YOU provides basic and advanced practical training courses on KM issues. Our training courses are organized to enable KM experts to identify critical knowledge in the organization, and to train them how to conduct interviews and how to organize the results. We also hold training courses to organize competency mapping of the organization to help KM experts to identify their Intellectual Capital, based on which they can more accurately plan their strategies, and for HR professionals to help them to develop strategic workforce planning activities.

Analysis for Managing Organizational Knowledge

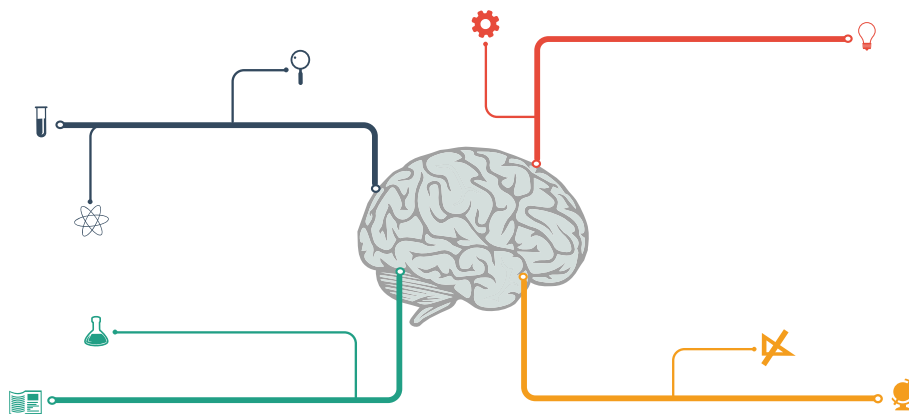

Based on client requests, our team can help you to identify your (critical) knowledge base and develop the KM process(es) for your organizations needs to fulfill the requirement of ISO 9001:2015 Managing of the Organizational Knowledge.

Complex Services

For organizations that need to create complex solutions for managing knowledge, we develop training content to sustain and protect Intellectual Capital. Through our partners, we can provide also access to e-learning platforms, e-learning training materials based on adaptive learning methods, and Virtual Reality training products (evolved from the gaming industry) for those areas where the physical access to training-specific equipment is not possible due to high radiation risks or other industrial safety related issues.

Team Building Workshops

The implementation and subsequent maintenance of knowledge management systems is a cultural issue. For KM implementation, organizations should pick team that are capable of working together to provide efficient and professional services inside the organization. NKM4YOU team building workshops provide the skills necessary for you to develop your KM team to manage the change project which is needed for KM implementation.

NEXT INTELLIGENCE

eMail: info@next-intelligence.net

website: http://next-intelligence.net/about_j.html